

CHAIRMAN'S PROLOGUE

Members of the Judges' Panel

Bill Birney has been working hard for the Panel to put together a new Judges' Handbook with a complete set of our General Rules and By-Laws. I encourage each of you to give this Handbook a look through and keep it with you at our 2015 Shows.

I want to express my thanks to each of you for being dedicated to this wonderful Budgie Hobby by being a member of this Panel.

As always, we need to be able to change as needed to best serve this hobby. In this matter, we have Judges' Clinics at Regional Shows and the Annual Judges' Panel Meeting at every All American. The Clinics help us pin point concerns that we can discuss and vote on as necessary at the Annual Meeting, so please do what you can to follow our Panel Rules and attend a Clinic at least every other year and also attend the All American at least once every four years. These two Rules were not instituted by Bill or me to punish anyone but it is our Duty to encourage each of us to follow them.

I look forward to meeting with each of you at the shows or at the All American, to work together to keep ABS the Best it can be and I know we will all support the Hobby to ensure it continues for many more years.

Thank You,
Mike Dahl

Rules and Regulations Governing the A.B.S. Panel of Judges

In accordance with the A.B.S. policy of keeping the best possible facilities and services available to its affiliated societies and individual members, the following rules have been adopted for governing the A.B.S. Panel of Judges and for training, selection and appointment of new judges. Failure to comply by the Judges' Panel Rules and Regulations or the A.B.S. Society will result in immediate suspension from this panel until investigation is completed.

I. General Judge Trainee Requirements

A. A judge trainee must be sponsored by an A.B.S. affiliated club. This trainee is to study the approved methods of judging and become completely familiar with the standards set up by A.B.S. and is, in general, to prepare himself/herself for examination and possible appointment to the Panel of Judges. The trainee is encouraged to participate in club activities such as judging parlor or baby shows and in private training sessions conducted with other judges. While now mandatory that judge applicants become an ABS Classifier prior to applying he or she must have also stewarded three (3) times, one time as Head Steward at A.B.S. sanctioned shows. If the trainee needs to relocate out of the area of the sponsoring club he/she should join another A.B.S. affiliated club and may continue the club activities without being sponsored by the new club. At all times he/she must be a member of an A.B.S. affiliated club. There is no limit to the number of trainees a club may sponsor. However, the sponsoring club and the trainee must be from the same district. The trainee is not limited to the sponsoring club to fulfill his/her club activity requirements.

B. Prospective trainees, meeting requirements in Section II, may request a trainee application form from the Judges' Panel Secretary listed in the A.B.S. bulletin. The application shall be completed and returned to the chairman of the qualifying committee, a judge whose name and address will be on the application. Within three (3) weeks the trainee will be informed by the Qualifying Committee Chairman whether his/her application has been approved or disapproved.

Reasons for rejection will be given. After approval, the trainee's name will be published in the A.B.S. Bulletin and he/she may then arrange for the training courses. Upon completion of the courses, the trainee will be invited to take his/her final tests, a practical and written test, at the next All American show.

C. The trainee is encouraged to judge club shows and participate in private training sessions conducted with other judges. He or she must have stewarded three (3) times, one time as Head Steward at A.B.S. sanctioned shows.

D. The Judge Trainee shall choose three (3) A.B.S. patronage shows as mandatory training programs where he/she will actively participate. The Judge Trainee will need to acquire permission to schedule the training sessions from both the Affiliated Club sponsoring the show and the A.B.S. panel judge who will be judging the show. The Affiliated Club choosing to participate in the training session may list the name of the Judge Trainee and the supervising A.B.S. Panel Judge in their show catalog. All of the decisions shall be made under the supervision of the presiding A.B.S. Panel Judge. The final placement of all birds in these Training Sessions will be made by the A.B.S. Panel Judge.

Training Session # 1 - The Judge Trainee will assess at least one (1) class of normals and one (1) class of opalines.

Training Session # 2 - The Judge Trainee will assess at least one (1) class of cinnamons and one (1) class of red eyes.

Training Session # 3 - In the third training session the Judge Trainee will assess an entire section from any division of the show. The Judge Trainee will select Best, 2nd and 3rd Best in Section as well as Best Hen and Best Young.

The final placement of all birds at a training session remains with the presiding A.B.S. Panel Judge, not the Judge Trainee.

In the event the presiding A.B.S. Panel Judge and the Judge Trainee concur that additional training is needed, an additional training session will be scheduled.

E. A judging test will be given at the next All American by a panel of five (5) A.B.S. Judges composed of one (1) judge from the Qualifying Committee, three (3) judges drawn by lot, and one (1) judge proposed by the trainee. *The judge's test will be given by five judges unless there are eight or less judges present. In that case we will use any three judges present. (2012) Upon successful completion of the judging test, *Note: Nothing less than Intermediate Division show entered birds to be used in the judges test, with permission of the show manager all excess people be removed from the room for the judges testing, a written test will also be given with a passing grade of 70% required. Trainees who fail to qualify may continue to apply for acceptance at the next All American.

F. When a decision has been reached by the Qualifying Committee that the trainee has completed all of his/her training requirements, the recommendation for acceptance as a member of the Judges' Panel shall be given to the Judges' Panel Executive Committee for final approval, prior to the announcement at the banquet. The trainee shall then be duly notified by the Chairman of the Judges' Panel. All pertinent papers shall be forwarded to the Secretary of the Judges' Panel Executive Committee for placement in the Judges' Panel permanent files.

G. A Judge Trainee must qualify under General Rule II: Qualifications required of all applicants to the A.B.S. Panel of Judges items "A" through "J", with any amendments to these items, of the General Rules and By-Laws of the Judges' Panel of the American Budgerigar Society, Inc., before making an application as a Judge Trainee of the panel.

H. Training sessions shall be on a one-on-one basis: one (1) judge and one (1) trainee. It is recommended that the trainee work with the judge throughout the whole show.

I. The trainee may not exhibit his/her bred birds and those of his/her family or partner at an A.B.S. show when training, except for the All American.

In addition to this, he/she must have placed, as a champion, First, Second or Third Best in Show with three (3) different birds (bred by the trainee) at three (3) different shows with three(3) different ABS Panel Judges during the five(5) calendar years immediately prior to application to the panel. E. The applicant must secure the endorsement of three (3) A.B.S. Panel Judges and the endorsement of the District Director in his/her district.

F. If accepted as a trainee and appointed to the panel, the applicant must agree to abide by all the rules and regulations now in existence and which may from time to time be issued by the A.B.S. or the Judges' Panel itself, which are applicable to the panel judges. Failure to abide by such rules and regulations shall be sufficient basis for removal from the panel or termination of his/her Judge Trainee status.

G. The applicant will be required to pay a fee of $50.00 at the time of filing his/her application. If the applicant fails to qualify or pass the examination, the fee of $50.00 will be retained by A.B.S. A judge's pin will be issued to all new judges at the All American by the Chairman of the Judges' Panel with the announcement of the new panel judge. The Secretary of the Judges' Panel will issue the judge's membership card and certificate. The initial pin will be provided free of cost.

H. No person shall be admitted to the A.B.S. Judges' Panel as a panel judge before they have reached their 25th birthday.

I. Dual members/partners who share the same band number, who are applying to become a judge trainee will be required to each have three (3) wins for the purpose of qualification in paragraph B above. Any applicant who holds dual membership with an A.B.S. Panel Judge or who is a partner of an A.B.S. Panel Judge shall apply on his/her own winnings. These winnings must not have been used previously by the dual member / partner for his/her judge's qualification.

J. All applicants will receive a copy of these rules with their application form. They may then either agree to be bound by these rules or they should not apply, provided they are able to meet all other qualifications.

Judging Procedures for ABS Panel Judges and Affiliated Clubs

All classes must be judged and cage tags marked 1st, 2nd and 3rd place. A judge may mark further if he or she so desires and hold as many as they feel can compete in further competition.

In section, the judge will mark 1st, 2nd and 3rd place, Best Hen and Best Young. Again, he or she may mark further and hold those that they feel may be strong for further competition.

This will be done with all classes and sections in Rare, Junior, Novice, Intermediate and Champion Divisions.

In judging the Division finals, 1st, 2nd and 3rd place birds, Best Young and Best Hen in every section, plus, whatever birds the judge has seen fit to hold will now be presented for the judge to start eliminating.

In doing the Division finals, an A.B.S. Judge will mark the cage tags from first through tenth, Best Young and three Best Hens in the Junior Division. In doing the Rare, Novice, Intermediate and Champion Divisions, an A.B.S. Judge will mark the cage tags first through tenth, Best Young and three Best Hens. This does not in any way affect the awards that a club is presenting and it in no way dictates as to what awards must be given. It is merely to have a standard judging procedure for our panel, to let our exhibitors know how and where their birds placed and for our A.B.S. Registry Division.

Before the judge has completed each of the Junior, Novice, Intermediate and Champion Divisions any birds placing in the Rare Division will be compared against its respective divisions. In other words, if the 4th Best Rare was a Novice entry it would be compared against the Novice Division before the cage tags were marked and continued with each division. The only time the “Best Rare” will compete for “Best in Show” is if they are in the top of their respective division, example; Best Novice, Best Intermediate and if the Champion Rare penetrated it’s division, it would depend where it placed! Eliminate judging the Best Rare Division if it does not meet this criteria.

After the cage tags have been marked first through tenth in the Rare, Junior, Novice, Intermediate and Champion Divisions, the judge shall then compare the Best Intermediate bird with the tenth best Champion bird to see if it can move into the top ten. Let’s assume that this bird moves up to fifth; this means that the tenth Best Champion bird has been eliminated. Then the 2nd Intermediate bird would be brought up to compare against the ninth Best Champion bird; if it cannot move in, the judge would then compare the Best Novice with the same procedure. If there were only two hens in the top ten, the judge would bring up the Best Intermediate, Best Novice, and Best Junior hen to be compared against the 3rd Best Champion hen to select the 3rd Best Hen in Show. The same would apply for Best or 2nd Best hen and Best Young if not already part of the top ten in show. Rare Division, Color Divisions, Open Divisions etc., and any other division that an entry fee has been charged, the bird winning that division is also entitled to be compared against the tenth best bird. If deserving, that bird will move into the top ten. A.B.S. Judges are allowed to judge the Best of Variety as the divisions are being judged throughout the show. This would be left to the judge’s discretion, with the exclusion of the Rare Division. Some of your specials may be found in the top ten and be automatic.

After all division winners have been compared to the top bench and either moved into or eliminated, the judge will mark the cage tags first through tenth Best in Show, three Best Hens and Best Young and stamp them as being eligible for A.B.S. Registration. The Best Young Bird in show is eligible for A.B.S. Registration.

The judge will also stamp the Rare Division winners as being eligible for A.B.S. Registration. The judge will review the Variety exhibits and judge for the Best Varieties at the end of the show, with the exclusion of the Rare Division.

One thing we must all remember, if the quality is strong enough at any given show that every one of the top ten Novice and Intermediate birds could be capable of moving into the top ten of a show, we should never take this possibility away from the bird or the owner. Example, with a show that has a high quality Novice and Intermediate entry, the final top ten could look something like this:

Best in Show	Best Intermediate Bird
2nd Best in Show	2nd Best Intermediate Bird
3rd Best in Show	Best Novice Bird
4th Best in Show	Best Champion Bird
5th Best in Show	3rd Best Intermediate Bird
6th Best in Show	4th Best Intermediate Bird
7th Best in Show	5th Best Intermediate Bird
8th Best in Show	2nd Best Novice Bird
9th Best in Show	2nd Best Champion Bird
10th Best in Show	6th Best Intermediate Bird

Just think what you could take away from the birds and exhibitors if the judge marked the Intermediate and Novice division winners only to third place, and it could happen if marked only to fifth place also.

So again, it is very important to have the judge mark Best in Show and divisional awards to tenth place, Best Young and three Best Hens, regardless of what awards are being presented.

Appendix “B” Standard Judging Procedures

The following list of Do’s and Don’ts has been established as a guide for A.B.S. Panel Judges in order to attain a degree of uniformity in the method of handling judging assignments. The list will be revised from time to time as the need arises. All judges are encouraged to submit any suggested additions or changes to the Chairman of the Rules Committee of the A.B.S. Judges Panel. All the following were accepted by the Judges Panel at the annual meetings and are inclusive of all changes through September 2014.

Do’s

1. Do study the show catalog before the show so that you will know exactly what birds must be held for the various awards and specials.
2. Do get a good night’s rest before the show so that you will be at your best.
3. Do dress neatly and in every way conduct yourself as a goodwill ambassador for A.B.S.
4. Do make certain that you have enough light to judge the birds properly.
5. Do be deliberate and calm while placing birds, working neither too fast nor too slow.
6. Do judge from left to right at all times.
7. Do give every bird a good look at eye level before elimination.
8. Do punch or mark every show tag at least once.
9. Do put remarks on show tags, whenever possible, giving reason for elimination.
10. Do make comments to the exhibitors when doing anything unusual or worthy of comment.
11. Do tell the steward the number of birds you want held in each class, section, etc.
12. Do answer all exhibitors’ questions politely and cheerfully.
13. Do check all birds in every class for miss-classification as to sex or variety.
14. A.B.S. Judges are allowed to judge the Best of Variety as the divisions are being judged throughout the show. This would be left to the judge’s discretion, with the exclusion of the Rare Division.

Don’ts

1. Don’t enter the show hall until advised that all entries are ready and all cage tags are sealed.
2. Don’t be late.
3. Don’t judge so fast that the exhibitors feel their birds didn’t get a fair shake.
4. Don’t discuss your selections with the steward or anyone else until after the judging is completed.
5. Don’t handle cages roughly or move the cages by the cage front.
6. Don’t smoke while judging.
7. Don’t joke or fool around while judging.
8. Don’t make uncomplimentary remarks about any bird or exhibitor.
9. Don’t criticize the selection of a fellow judge under any circumstances.

10. Don't remove any bird from its show cage. If this should be necessary have the show manager do it.
11. Don't reverse yourself. A judge's decision, once made, shall stand and a bird once defeated cannot be placed over a bird that has defeated it unless the bird that won is disqualified.
12. Don't change ribbons or rosettes. Even if a bird is disqualified, that bird is entitled to keep all awards earned up to the time of disqualification.
13. Don't forget to note on show tags as to the reason for disqualifying any bird. For example: Bird died, bird sick, bird injured, etc.
14. Don't lose track of birds that are being held for special awards.
15. Don't drink alcoholic beverages in excess at any time while on a judging assignment.
16. Don't use bright colored judging sticks which have a tendency to upset the birds. Natural wood colored sticks are recommended since they more closely resemble perches.
17. Don't mention that you recognized any bird while judging or after the show.

Procedures for Judges Giving Judges Training Course

1. Go through catalog, classifications, awards, specials, etc., prior to judging. Provide directions on the proper way to handle cages and move birds up on bench. Review Do's and Don'ts. Explain procedure regarding instructions to Steward on holding birds and procedures if a bird is miss-classified and or disqualified.
2. When judging begins, introduce Judge Trainee to the Exhibitors and explain that the Trainee will be with you at the show bench throughout the judging, receiving training. Emphasize that all decisions will be made by the A.B.S. Panel Judge.
3. Instruct Trainee in punching tags, marking tags with comments, and stamping winners for registration with explanation of why or when a judge speaks to the exhibitors.
4. Explain to Trainee throughout the entire judging (classes, sections, divisions, top bench, color varieties and show specials) the proper procedure of judging as well as the reasons for the decisions. Encourage Trainee to ask questions.
5. Advise the Trainee of the Show Reports and Certificates which must be signed.
6. Notify the Chairman of the Qualifying Committee after the course has been given with a brief written commentary on the progress of the trainee. The in-depth instructions given our trainees are an important contribution to maintaining and improving the high standards of our A.B.S. Judges' Panel.

A Suggested Guide on How to Conduct a Judges' Clinic

The General Rules and Regulations and By-Laws of the A.B.S. Judges' Panel, rule E-5 requires that a Judges' Clinic be held at all Regional Shows. This same rule states that all Judges attending the show should attend the Judges' Clinic. The Judge(s) retained to judge the Regional Shows are responsible to coordinate, schedule and make all arrangements for the Judges' Clinic with the Show Chairman. This judge is also responsible to make a report on the clinic, in accordance with the above referenced rule. All arrangements regarding the clinic should be made well in advance so as to avoid any last minute problems. One of the main objectives of holding a Judges' Clinic is to study and develop a more uniform perception of the budgies that we judge at all shows. It should be noted that the suggestions herein are closely tied to the study and understanding of the Standard of Perfection.

Judges' Clinic Check List

1. Coordinate and arrange with the show manager the best time and place to hold the Judges' Clinic. Allow at least 30-60 minutes for the clinic. Don't rush just to get through. The best time is usually immediately following the completion of judging.
2. Be sure that all Judges and Judge Trainees in attendance are notified as to the time and place of the Judges' Clinic.
3. Coordinate and arrange with the show manager for the use of some of the birds entered in the show. It might be best not to use any of the Best in Show birds as exhibitors will want to look over the winners.
4. The Judges' Clinic should be held in a semi-formal manner, thus assuring proper decorum. Arrange to have notes taken by one of the judges in attendance, including the names of all those in attendance. A copy of the Judges' Clinic Report is to be sent to the Secretary of the A.B.S. Judges' Panel.
5. At the beginning of the clinic, the presiding judge should emphasize that the purpose of the clinic is to help us all reach a more uniform understanding of the Standard of Perfection and its application in our judging.
6. A brief outline of your subject for the clinic would be helpful.
7. The presiding judge might want to give, or have someone else give, a short 10 - 15 minute program. He might choose to open the clinic with a discussion of some special aspect of judging. He might want to consider only one point or several, such as condition, size and shape of head, wing markings on opalines and cinnamons, improper grooming, visibly marked cages, stretched leg bands, etc.
8. The chair will allow judges to comment on their issues concerning the panel. This clinic is open to all active and retired judges and trainees.
9. Ask for items to improve the A.B.S. Judges' Panel performance.
10. Ask for items to be brought up at the annual meeting of the panel.
11. If you are the sole judge at a regional meeting you should submit comments and/or suggestions to be presented at the annual meeting.
